Companion to Women's Historical Writing M. Spongberg,A. Curthoys,B. Caine,2016-04-30 This A Z reference work provides the first comprehensive reference guide to the wide range of historical writing with which women have been involved particularly since the Renaissance The Companion covers biographical writing travelogue and historical fictions broadening the concept of history to include the forms of writing with which women have historically engaged The focus is on women writing in English internationally but historical and historiographical traditions from beyond the English speaking world are also examined Brief biographies of individual writers are included

The Broadview Anthology of British Literature: The Victorian era ,2006 Diagnosing history Katherine Byrne,Julie Anne Taddeo,James Leggott,2022-03-22 This timely collection examines representations of medicine and medical practices in international period drama television A preoccupation with medical plots and settings can be found across a range of important historical series including Outlander Poldark The Knick Call the Midwife La Peste and A Place to Call Home Such shows offer a critique of medical history while demonstrating how contemporary viewers access and understand the past

Topics covered in this collection include the innovations and horrors of surgery the intersection of gender class race and medicine on the American frontier psychiatry and the trauma of war and the connections between past and present pandemics. Featuring original chapters on period television from the UK the US Spain and Australia Diagnosing history offers an accessible global and multidisciplinary contribution to both televisual and medical history George Bernard Shaw and the Socialist Theatre Tracy C. Davis, 1994-07-30 A biographically based study of George Bernard Shaw and his milieu this book offers a non laudatory reading of Shaw's economic practices and theories augments feminist and postcolonial critiques that preoccupy the study of literary history in the 1990s and provides a long overdue revisionist reading of Shaw for an undergraduate readership. It traces the theatrical and political influences on Shaw from his earliest days in London tracks his interest in socialism as an activist and author of tracts novels and plays emphasizing certain polemical traits and follows his career as a major literary figure into the mid 20th century. The overarching themes of theatre and politics are narrated in relation to attempts by Shaw and his contemporaries to identify an audience and aesthetic for socialist theatre. The bibliographic essay that concludes the book is particularly helpful for student readers who can benefit from a manageable sized orientation to the mountain of Shavian scholarship Sex in Ethics and Law Iwao Hoshii, 1987 A History of Women in the West: Emerging feminism from revolution to world war, 1992 A History of Women in the West: Emerging feminism from Revolution to World War Georges Duby, Michelle Perrot, Pauline Schmitt Pantel, 1992 Volume 3 has some references to homosexuality and lesbianism in the index dm

Ah Ku and Karayuki-san James Francis Warren, 1993 This history describes and analyses brothel prostitution in Singapore between 1870 and 1940. The vital role of Chinese and Japanese prostitutes in sustaining Singapore's pre war economy and society has not been fully recognized. Starting with village backgrounds in rural China and Japan and the hazards of the trade in women and children the author follows the prostitutes through their encounters with brothel life in general and in particular explores their routines and crises of earning spending social relations leisure mobility diseases and death Marriage and Property Elizabeth M. Craik, 1991

Josephine Butler, Octavia Hill, Florence Nightingale Nancy Boyd, 1982 The three women who had the greatest effect on social policy in Britain in the nineteenth century were Josephine Butler Octavia Hill and Florence Nightingale. In an era when most women were confined to the kitchen and the salon these three moved confidently into positions of world leadership Josephine Butler raised opposition to the state regulation of prostitution and confronted the root issues of poverty and of civil rights for women Octavia Hill artist teacher and great conservationist enabled thousands of families to meet the dislocations of the industrial revolution and created a new profession that of the social worker Florence Nightingale not only shattered precedent by establishing a training school for nurses she also pioneered work in the use of statistical analysis and her practicality and passionate urgency effected radical reforms in medical practice and public health These women attributed their social view and the impetus for their vocation to their religious faith Rejecting the constraints on women's work imposed by conventional religion they found in the gospels ground for radical action As daughters and prophetesses of God they felt called to build the New Jerusalem This book analyses their world view both as a source of social policies and as a driving force In addition it presents the factors of family class time and place that nurtured their vocation and those that impeded it But the purpose of this study is wider than that In incorporating the material of spiritual biography Nancy Boyd works out the relation between the inner and the outer self between vision and programme between contemplation and action Back cover Victims and Viragos Gregory Durston,2007 This book considers the experiences of eighteenth century women in the Metropolitan area as both the victims and perpetrators of a variety of crimes and as participants in different forms in the era s criminal justice system In doing so it makes extensive use of primary as well as secondary sources The book is written so as to be readily accessible to the general reader as well as to academics and eschews the more arcane language that sometimes surrounds gendered subjects The eight chapters are broad enough to cover an extensive range of crimes while remaining manageable in size Vitally the book considers the impact of what was largely an urban rather than rural environment on women s lives and how this affected their offending and victimisation patterns Ethnic Groups ,1979 A collection of articles illustrating the diversity of origins of the American people
