Social Marketing for Public Health: Global Trends and Success Stories Hong Cheng, Philip Kotler, Nancy Lee, 2009-11-24

Social Marketing for Public Health examines how social marketing is used as a strategy for changing health behavior in the world today. Addressing issues and trends in social marketing and public health globally, it highlights successful and measurable health behavior changing campaigns launched by the governments by a combination of the governments and citizens or by the citizens themselves in various countries. Each chapter focuses on one selected country, making the content very accessible. The text provides an in-depth and up-to-date treatment of the subject matter. 21st Century Anthropology: A Reference Handbook

A Reference Handbook H. James Birx, 2010-06-10. 21st Century Anthropology: A Reference Handbook highlights the most important topics, issues, questions, and debates any student obtaining a degree in the field of anthropology ought to have mastered for effectiveness in the 21st century. This two-volume set provides undergraduate majors with an authoritative reference source that serves their research needs with more detailed information than encyclopedia entries but in a clear, accessible style, devoid of jargon, unnecessary detail, or density. Key Features: Emphasizes key curricular topics, making it useful for students researching for term papers, preparing for GREs, or considering topics for a senior thesis, graduate degree, or career. Comprehensive, providing full coverage of key subthemes and subfields within the discipline such as applied anthropology, archaeology, and paleontology; sociocultural anthropology; evolution; linguistics; physical and biological anthropology; primate studies; and more. Offers uniform chapter structure so students can easily locate key information within these sections: Introduction, Theory, Methods, Applications, Comparison, Future Directions, Summary, Bibliography, Suggestions for Further Reading, and Cross References. Available in print or electronically at SAGE Reference Online, providing students with convenient, easy access to its contents.

The International Social Survey Programme 1984-2009 Max Haller, Roger Jowell, Tom W. Smith, 2009-09-11. The social sciences rely more on the comparative method than on experimental data mainly because the latter is difficult to acquire amongst human populations. The International Social Survey Programme has played a pioneering role in creating and sustaining methodologically sophisticated mass attitude surveys across the globe. Starting in 1984 with five nations, it now encompasses forty-five nations spread over five continents, each administering an identical annual survey to a random sample of their population. Analyses of the data or descriptions of the methodology already appear in over 3,000 publications. This book contains new contributions from three dozen eminent scholars who analyse and compare the perceptions and attitudes of citizens across all five continents, nations, and over time. Subjects range from inequality and the role of the state, ethnic, national, and global identities, the changing relevance of religion, beliefs and practices, gender roles, family values, and work orientations, household and
