Morphological Perspectives Baerman Matthew Baerman, 2019-04-17 In a field still dominated by syntactic perspectives it is easy to overlook the words that are the irreducible building blocks of language Morphological Perspectives takes words as the starting point for any questions about linguistic structure their form their internal structure their paradigmatic extensions and their role in expressing and manipulating syntactic configurations With a team of authors that run the typological gamut of languages this book examines these questions from multiple perspectives both the canonical and the non canonical By taking these questions seriously and letting loose a full battery of analytical techniques the following chapters not only celebrate the pioneering work of Greville G Corbett but present new thinking on traditional approaches including the paradigm deponency and morphological features

The Diachrony of Differential Object Marking in Romanian Virginia Hill, Alexandru Mardale, 2021-06-15 This book provides a comprehensive investigation of the origins development and stabilization of differential object marking DOM in Romanian DOM a means by which a grammar distinguishes between objects based on semantic features such as animacy or definiteness has been a fruitful area of research in syntax historical linguistics and typology In this volume Virginia Hill and Alexandru Mardale demonstrate that Romanian DOM reflects a typological mix of Balkan and Romance patterns and is in fact composed of three distinct mechanisms Their analysis of these mechanisms reveals that DOM triggers in Romanian are located in the nominal domain in contrast to languages such as Spanish where they are located in the verbal domain The cross linguistic perspective adopted in the volume sheds light on existing typologies of DOM particularly in relation to the variation observed in the merging location of the DOM particle and of the doubling pronominal clitic

Diachrony of differential argument marking Ilja A. Seržant, Alena Witzlack-Makarevich, 2018 While there are languages that code a particular grammatical role e g subject or direct object in one and the same way across the board many more languages code the same grammatical roles differentially The variables which condition the differential argument marking or DAM pertain to various properties of the NP such as animacy or definiteness or to event semantics or various properties of the clause While the main line of current research on DAM is mainly synchronic the volume tackles the diachronic perspective The tenet is that the emergence and the development of differential marking systems provide a different kind of evidence for the understanding of the phenomenon The present volume consists of 18 chapters and primarily brings together diachronic case studies on particular languages or language groups including e g Finno Ugric Sino Tibetan and Japonic languages The volume also includes a position paper which provides an overview of the typology of different subtypes of DAM systems a chapter on computer simulation of the emergence of DAM and a chapter devoted to the cross linguistic effects of referential hierarchies on DAM

Prominence in Austronesian Bethwyn Evans, Åshild Næss, Jozina Vander Klok, 2024-01-29 The cognitive concept of prominence is increasingly seen as key to understanding the organisation of grammar This volume explores the encoding of prominence in languages from across the Austronesian family The contributions show how prominence is relevant to understanding asymmetries at different levels of grammatical structure from discourse and information structure to argument expression and socio pragmatics Moreover common themes across contributions point to crosslinguistic tendencies that underpin the conventionalisation of communicative patterns for coordinating interlocutors attention and to points of departure for further crosslinguistic exploration of how grammatical asymmetries can be explained in terms of prominence

the structure of words and their phrasal syntax The book proposes a new formal framework that models cross linguistic and cross constructional variation in noun modification constructions The framework it offers enables readers to explicitly map word structure to syntactic structure providing new insights into and impacting upon all current theoretical models of grammar Ostyak Irina Alekseevna Nikolaeva, 1999
