Echo Chambers of Conflict Jonathan Matusitz, Jonah Lynne, 2025-10-20 This volume offers a detailed description of how media propaganda shapes public perception in conflict zones drawing on key communication theories like framing and agenda setting. It analyzes disinformation campaigns by Hamas and Israel showing how psychological warfare plays out on social media platforms. The book delves into polarization and radicalization emphasizing social media's role in exacerbating these processes and exploring how individuals especially youths are radicalized online through gradual stages of desensitization. This discussion is expanded through an analysis of digital activism and the role of social media in facilitating global protest movements.

Media Strategy and Military Operations in the 21st Century Michal Shavit, 2016-07-15 This book applies the concept of mediatization to the contemporary dynamic between war media and society with a focus on the Israel Defence Forces IDF. Since the beginning of the 21st century the IDF has undergone an intensive process of mediatization that has transformed the media into an interpretative grid for many of its military activities and increasingly utilized media to garner public support and construct civilian perceptions of conflict and security through media activity and strategy. This process can be divided into four distinct chronological phases in accordance with the operational challenges confronted by the IDF during this period from the Al Aqsa Intifada of 2000 through Israeli unilateral disengagement from Gaza in 2005 and the second Lebanon war of 2006 to the series of Gaza confrontations of 2008-2014. The work shows how the IDF's media policy evolved from a narrow perception of its role and separation between operational and media actions to a cohesive and coherently articulated media strategy that is increasingly intertwined with military action and operational strategy and a vital component of strategic military aims and objectives. This strategic stance has led the IDF to adopt a global media perspective using the most advanced new media platforms designed to influence public opinion and improve national narratives both in Israel and the international community. By applying the concept of mediatization to the Israeli case this book fills a research lacuna and offers a new prism for the study of media-military relations in contemporary conflicts. The book will be of much interest to students of civil-military relations, strategic studies, Middle Eastern Studies, media and communication studies, sociology and IR in general.

REVIEWERS COMMENTS

Few topics of media research affect us more personally and emotionally than how media represents war and the military's partly hidden role in that process. Communicating War is a wide ranging and important contribution to that debate which also has the advantage of being right up to date. Essential reading.

Nick Couldry Professor of Media and Communications Goldsmiths University of London

We live in an age where the relationship between war and communications media is more complex and more urgent than ever before. Communicating War is therefore to be welcomed. Its rich collection sets the agenda as does the War and Media Network from which it emerges. Crucially the collection reminds us of that which is forgotten which can be as important in the war media relationship today as those things embedded in memory.

James Gow Professor of International Peace and Security Kings College London

A timely and hugely valuable contribution to the scholarly literature on news about conflict and war. The range of contributors and the variety of themes covered make this collection essential reading for students and researchers of conflict reporting in the post 9/11 world.

Brian McNair Professor of Journalism and Communication University of Strathclyde

Communicating War is a timely collection of great diversity bringing both historical depth and theoretical sophistication to a range of urgent contemporary debates about the media's role in war.

Philip Hammond Reader in Media and Communications London South Bank University

The Journal of Psychohistory, 1994

Total Cold War Kenneth Alan Osgood, 2006

Osgood focuses on major campaigns such as Atoms for Peace People to People and cultural exchange programs. Drawing on recently declassified documents that record US psychological operations in some three dozen countries he tells how US propaganda agencies presented everyday life in America to the world its citizens living full happy lives in a classless society where economic bounty was shared by all. Osgood further investigates the ways in which superpower disarmament negotiations were used as propaganda maneuvers in the battle for international public opinion. He also reexamines the early years of the space race focusing especially on the challenge to American propagandists posed by the Soviet launch of Sputnik.
